Note from the Columbian Cyclopedia

Durlach an old town of Germany, grand duchy of Baden, on the Pfing, at the base of the Thurnberg, a highly cultivated hill, 3 m East of Carlsruhe. Durlach manufactures linen, tobacco, chicory, vinegar and machinery and has ~~its~~ extensive fruit and grain markets. The environs abound in orchards. On the summit of the Thurnberg are the ruins of an old castle. Durlach is a station of the Mannheim and Basel Railway. Population in 1880, 11-7.

* "The ... a copy of ... German papers. Mrs Sha... translated them."

One school church the original of this in the Lancaster Co. Historical Society for classifying manuscripts. W. U. Weber 1897